Alan Steinbrugge has been entranced by photography since the day in his childhood when his father first took him into the darkroom and Alan watched a print develop. His first camera was a Kodak Brownie in elementary school but he began to get serious in high school. For him, the aim has always been to capture an interesting image of what he sees. He's been a member of BFAP since it began in 2010. His work has been exhibited in various Bay Area locations.

Ice Tuolumne Meadows November 2011 21x21 framed $300

This image was taken on one of the last days before the Tioga Pass road closed for the winter. This was one of the small streams running under the snow and ice.

Dawn, Drakes Bay 17x21 framed $300

This image was taken looking east, towards the sun, just as the sun came over the mountains.

Fog in Oakland Outer Harbor 13x23 framed $300

This image of early morning low fog on the bay as seen from Skyline Boulevard. The fog was thick but stopped abruptly at the shore.
